Some weeks ago Alex. Burnett endeavored to teach about 30 head of his cattle to skate on the pond. The attempt was partially successful until the ice gave way, when the beaver were given lessons in swimming. ## THE SCHOOL ELECTION

What Citizens Will Vote for This Afternoon.

A GANG OF YOUNG RUFFIANS

Find Sport in Severely Injuring a Woman—No Boyish Excuse Can Palliate Such an Act.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the polls will be open, at the High school house on Main street, for the election of school trustees, to get an expression from the citizens regarding the question of levying a special tax of $10,000 for school purposes, and to know whether the voters are willing for the trustees to sell the old one-story brick veneer school house, situated in block 53 of the city.

Women and every elector qualified to vote at an ordinary election, can cast ballots at the polls to-day. Each question is submitted on a separate ballot, so each voter will be required to vote three tickets.

In regard to the trustees to be elected to succeed Messrs. Kirby, Dwyer and Stalman, regular nominations have been made, and three good business men associated in the persons of John R. Toole, P. Cuddihy and M. Martin. Anaconda may congratulate herself in getting three such good representative men to accept the nominations. Too often the business men of a town neglect school matters owing to the stress of everyday affairs, and consequently less capable men fill the trustee offices, with the result that the schools are not managed as well as they might be, and the average citizen kicks himself for not having taken an interest in the election.

The general opinion round town seems that with the former the other two propositions will also carry, as Anaconda has made a reputation in being liberal in matters regarding the education of her little people. To raise this necessary $10,000 an additional tax of not quite 4 mills is required.

A DASTARDLY TRICK.

A Gang of Boys Willfully Injure a Woman.

Thursday night a gang of boys, who were old enough to know better, strung a rope across the sidewalk on Cedar street between Fourth and Fifth streets. The cord was placed with the intention of tripping passers by as they walked along. A woman was thrown down and very seriously injured, and yesterday the police were busy getting the names of the young miscreants. No arrests will be made until it is learned whether the boys will recover from her injuries, as should they prove fatal, the charges will be manslaughter, otherwise the arrests will be made on the lesser charge that will not send the perpetrators of the deed to the penitentiary for a longer term than five years or less.

The old saying that "boys will be boys," and the other statements made as excuses for youthful foibles, do not enter into this case, for boys who would willfully injure a woman do not come within that category, as they are purely and simply a pack of little demons.

There are boys in Anaconda who will wantonly tie tin cans to dogs tails, ring door bells at night and play other tricks, which tend to prove the increased depravity of youth in the last few years, and that it will increase in the generations yet to be. For how can these boys of to-day, when they are fathers remonstrate with their sons when caught in flagrant delict that they perpetrated themselves in youthful days. To learn that youth has retrogressed in late years, it is only necessary to ask any father in this city whether, in his youthful days, he ever owned a peach-stone or did anything but go to Sunday school on the Sabbath day, and anyone can become assured of the sad future destiny has weaved for the rising generation, as these sirens depict their saint like conduct.

The police should certainly be given every assistance in bringing this lost gang of young marauders to justice.

Easter Services.

Appropriate services for the day will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church in the morning, and in the evening an Easter concert by the Sunday school will be held. Special music, consisting of Easter anthems, will be rendered. The morning service will take place at 11 and the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

At the Presbyterian church to-morrow special services, appropriate to Easter, will be conducted in morning and evening. At 11 a. m. Rev. William Clyde will preach, and at 7:30 p. m. Professor Kern will lecture on the "Immortality of the Soul." A cordial welcome to all.

A dime social will be given at the residence of Mrs. J. P. Dunn, 330 Park avenue, on Thursday at 8 p. m.

At St. Mark's church, Rev. Mr. Prout of Deer Lodge will hold service at 6:30 a. m., which will be the only service held in the Episcopal church that day.

At the Magistrate's Court.

In Judge Rockwell's court yesterday afternoon James Taylor, colored, pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace on Thursday night.

Taylor produced several witnesses in his own behalf, but the city made out too strong a case against him, so he was assessed $10 and the usual side pieces.

If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off the disease. Such persons should always keep the remedy at hand, ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses of it at the right time will save them much suffering. For sale by all leading druggists.

ARBOR DAY.

The Governor's Proclamation Setting the Day.

Governor Richards has issued a proclamation making the 10th of April arbor day. The proclamation is rather longer than is usual in such cases, as the governor has seen fit to incorporate a section of the statutes, in order to call to the notice of citizens the exemptions granted by the law to those willing to beautify their homes.

The proclamation in full is as follows: For the adornment of our homes and highways, for the beautifying of our cemeteries and the embellishment of our public parks, the legislature of Montana has wisely set apart one day in each year for the planting of trees, vines and shrubs and grown into an annual contribution to the welfare of the commonwealth. Not only does the law which provides an arbor day for Montana direct the teachers in our public schools to train the thoughts of youth toward the utility and beauty of tree planting, by practical observation of the day, but it offers rewards to the taxpayer in wholesome exemptions and substantial concessions.

Section 6 of the act concerning tree planting and arboriculture, says: "That when any resident of the territory (state) has or may hereafter plant and cultivate for any lawful purpose forest trees or fruit trees, not less than 10 feet apart and not more than eight feet from any water ditch without the ditch, he shall be exempt from taxation to the amount of $1 annually thereafter on the assessed valuation of such land for each growing tree thereon for a period of ten years."

Recognizing the great value to the state of the proper observance of a day especially set apart for the planting of trees, and regarding the maintenance of the custom, to which it holds its origin, as due posterity, as well as the material interests of the present, I, J. E. Richards, governor of the state of Montana, do hereby proclaim as arbor day the eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1903.

Pursuant to the spirit of the law and for the welfare of the state, I recommend an appropriate observance of the day by all who can lend their energies to its work. Wherever practical the people in our public parks should celebrate the day with appropriate ceremonies and participate in the active duties of planting trees.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state to be affixed. Done at Helena, the capital of said state, this 17th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three. J. E. RICHARDS, Governor.

By the governor, L. ROTWITZ, Secretary of State.

Firemen Get In Their Work.

If anyone doubts the firemen's ability to thoroughly advertise their Easter ball, to be given Monday evening, April 3, they should inspect the windows of the Smith Drug company and T. W. Hayes. In the former will be found a puzzle, and the lovers of rebuses will have an opportunity of reading the intelligence of the coming ball. In the other window is represented a fireman in full paraphernalia, surrounded by apparatus, the whole forming a scene calculated to excite the admiration of passers.

But if the public wants to see a scene of beauty and brilliancy, they should visit the ball room, where they will find the following committees to look after their comfort:

Committee: Arrangements—Daniel Dunn, Charles Collins, G. S. E. Wisner, George Elston, William Slaughter, Frank Bertsch.

Reception—G. S. E. Wisner, Robert Lemington, Eugene Conrad, A. H. Neal, L. E. Surprenant, Thomas Richards, R. M. Collins.

Floor director—J. A. Hasley; assistants, W. A. Collins, W. J. Stevens, Harry Habbe, M. J. Copeland, Daniel Dunn, E. B. English, Charles Boyd.

Decorations—Ed McGovern, George Adams, Theodore Harris, Bert Johnson.

A poor glow, like a false lover, is a thing not wanted. Some firms sell cheap glowies. Hennessy has only those that ladies find desirable.

"Ole Olson" in Seattle.

Turner hall was packed to the doors last night, says the Post-Intelligencer, and the audience was delighted with the efforts of a thoroughly meritorious company. As was expected from the advance notices James T. McAlpine gave a fine rendition of the part of Ole Olson. He had a face and figure that suits the part admirably. His yodling called forth storms of applause. The supporting company is excellent, notably Dolly Foster as Genie, Louise Arnot as Bridget O'Flanagan, Annie Burton as Mrs. Jordan, and Messrs. Chamberlain, Linal and Coste.

The Swedish ladies' quartette, perhaps, the most taking feature of the performance. They are by far the best ensemble of female voices ever heard in Seattle. Six encores were demanded before the audience would allow them to retire.

The Lost Found.

An old Indian lost a chair of most peculiar workmanship, consisting of eight cow's horns, made very neatly into an armchair. Officer White found the missing property and brought it to the STAN-ARD office late last night. Anyone having the Indian inquiring for it will do well to send him to this office where he can reclaim his property.

Spring Military.

I have just opened my spring stock of military. Everything in this stock has been selected with the greatest care and will repay anyone to inspect it. Mrs. N. McCarty, 225 East First street.

An Interesting Meeting.

These members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union who failed to be present at the special meeting yesterday afternoon, missed a very interesting as well as profitable afternoon.

The regular meeting will be held next Friday at 2:30 in the Presbyterian church. All members, it is hoped, will make an effort to be present.
